Plans Set for Biggest Girl Scout Cookie Drive

Doorbells throughout this area soon will be jingling again, when the "sweetest little door-to-door salesmen in the world," the Girl Scouts, launch their annual community cookie sale.

The big drive, now a famous American institution, has been set for Feb. 12, with more than 26,000 Girl Scouts, Brownies and leaders participating.

If the ambitious plans of the 1949 Girl Scout cookie sale committee are successful, there will be literally tons of delicious Girl Scout cookies distributed to hundreds of thousands of homes in this area, and more and better camping facilities available for the deserving girl in this community. Proceeds of the tremendous sale go directly towards furthering the administrative, field service and camping facilities of the Los Angeles Girl Scout Council.

This year the official Girl Scout cookies are going to taste better than ever because first, the tempting cookies are made the old-fashioned "home-style" way, from the finest ingredients obtainable; second, every box you buy brings the character-building program of Girl Scouting to more girls in your neighborhood.

Already under-staffed, the Los Angeles Girl Scout Council is facing one of its most difficult years because of recent public apathy to the Community Chest appeal. Girl Scout officials are hoping that an overwhelming response to the forthcoming cookie sale drive will help breach the financial gap that threatens to halt part of the vital work now being rendered by the youth of your community by Girl Scouting. However, Girl Scouts are optimistically predicting a very "cookie-conscious" populace, and anticipate a heart-warming response and an "open-door policy" when the doorbells start ringing Saturday, Feb. 12.

SPRING FLOWER SHOW IS SET FOR MARCH 10

Special competition is open to daffodil and cymbidium (orchid) fanciers for exhibition in the Southern California Spring Flower Show, it was announced today by Glenn H. Hiatt, president of the sponsoring Pasadena Flower Show Association.

The show is scheduled to open March 10 for a four-day showing in Brookside Park, Pasadena.

The Patricia Reynolds Perpetual Challenge Trophies, inaugurated at the 1947 spring show, will be passed on to winners at the forthcoming event for the best collection of daffodils and for the best three flowering cymbidium plants. The two silver trophies are a memorial to the late Mr. Reynolds who was a noted daffodil hybridist.

Competition in both classes is open to amateurs and private growers (growers with gardeners) only.

An additional 22 classes for daffodil entries are open to anyone. Cash prizes and blue ribbons will be awarded winners in these classifications. Entries for all exhibits close March 1. Information for exhibitors can be secured at the show's headquarters, 675 Rosemont avenue, Pasadena.

The annual spring classic, largest in the Southland, attracts entries and spectators from all parts of the nation.

PAY TRIBUTE TO VOLUNTEERS IN RED CROSS SERVICE

It would have taken one person 82 years—working night and day, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays—to carry out the varied projects undertaken by Los Angeles Red Cross chapter volunteers during 1948.

This electrifying fact was disclosed this week in a report filed by Mrs. O. C. Welbourn, chairman, volunteer services for Red Cross.

Mrs. Welbourn's report showed an aggregate of 719-633 volunteer hours were served last year by 46,387 women serving under the Red Cross banner.

Particular tribute was paid by Mrs. Welbourn to members of the volunteer services who answered the call of need—regardless of hour—when disaster struck in this area. She was referring to those women who swung into action during the three-day Topanga Canyon fire and those who were ready to serve when the strand at Redondo Beach was lashed by giant waves last month.

"Red Cross volunteers, in addition to carrying out their routine chores, never fail us when disaster services call them to act," Mrs. Welbourn pointed out.

Virtually inactive since the end of World War II hostilities, members of the popular Red Cross Nurse's Aide Service last year were reactivated to assist in the polo siege by aiding in the post-fire treatment of victims, the report showed further.

Garden Conference to Open Tuesday

The morning meeting will hear over 30 speakers from various garden societies.

This annual event is sponsored by the Los Angeles Garden Center, a non-profit service organization. More than 60 cities will be represented.
